"My son has struggled with controlling anger. After practicing the yoga and breathing from the program, I saw him gain some control back – and without me telling him what to do. He is making the changes himself! Friendships are better and he has gained confidence. I'm even practicing the exercises, too!"

Healthy Expressions Education, Inc.

In 2002, Josie Grignon, a mother and 15-year educator, established Healthy Expressions Education, Inc. Josie's experiences as both parent and teacher helped her understand the challenges of raising a healthy child in today's society and laid the foundation for the HEE curriculum.

Over the past 4 years, HEE has grown to offer a variety of health building programs for young children, adolescents and adults. Josie's passion is to help individuals maximize their learning, health and life potential through tools that foster life balance and well-being.
